

INDEX TO VOL. I.

- ABSORPTION, intestinal, 411.
 Activity, daily, methods of recording, 40.
 —, variations produced by alcohol, barometric changes, and diet, 40.
ALBRO, ALICE H. See CHITTENDEN, R. H., and ALICE H. ALBRO, 307.
 Albumose, excretion by kidneys, 274.
 —, physiological action, 266.
 Alcohol, effect on distemper, xv.
 —, effect on voluntary muscular power in fatigue, xv.
 —, effect on young dogs, xv.
 Alcoholic beverages, influence on digestion, 184.
 American Physiological Society, Proceedings, iii.
 Amyolytic power of saliva, variations, iii.
 Anaesthesia, by ether in rectum, viii.
 Aorta, blood currents in, xiv.
 Attention, determination of a constant of, 283.
- BANCROFT, F. W. The venomotor nerves of the hind limb, 477.
BARROWS, F. W. The effect of inanition on the structure of nerve cells, xiv.
 Bile, chemical reaction, 317.
 —, influence on pancreatic proteolysis, 307.
 Biological problems of to-day, xv.
 Blood-pressure, influenced by albumose and peptone, 275.
 Borax, its influence on nutrition, 1.
 Boric acid, its influence on nutrition, 1.
 Brain-circulation, influenced by high arterial pressures, 57.
BROWN, E. W. Notes on Cetraria islandica (Iceland moss), 455.
BUDGEIT, S. P. On the similarity of structural changes produced by lack of oxygen and certain poisons, 210.
- CALCIUM SALTS, solubility, 423.
 Cane-sugar, inversion in stomach, 277.
CANNON, W. B. See MOSER and CANNON, xii.
CANNON, W. B. The movements of the stomach, studied by means of the Röntgen rays, 359, xiii.
CANNON, W. B., and A. MOSER. The movements of the food in the oesophagus, 435.
 Cardiopneumatic movements, 147.
 Cathartics, 414.
Cetraria islandica (Iceland moss), 455.
CHITTENDEN, R. H. Variations in the amyolytic power of saliva and their relation to the chemical composition of the secretion, iii.
CHITTENDEN, R. H., and ALICE H. ALBRO. The influence of bile and bile salts on pancreatic proteolysis, 307.
CHITTENDEN, R. H., and W. J. GIES. The influence of borax and boric acid upon nutrition, with special reference to proteid metabolism, 1.
CHITTENDEN, R. H., L. B. MENDEL, and H. C. JACKSON. A further study of the influence of alcohol and alcoholic drinks upon digestion, with special reference to secretion, 164.
CHITTENDEN, R. H., L. B. MENDEL, and H. E. McDERMOTT. Papain-proteolysis, with some observations on the physiological action of the products formed, 255.
CHITTENDEN, R. H., and A. N. RICHARDS. Variations in the amyolytic power and chemical composition of human mixed saliva, 461.
CLARK, G. P. On certain characteristics of the pressure sensations of the human skin, 346, xi.
CLEGHORN, A. The reinforcement of voluntary muscular contractions, 336.

Coagulation of blood influenced by albumose and peptone, 269.

Color vision, xv.

Contraction, static, methods of determining, 284.

Coronary circulation, volume of, method of recording, 215.

Coronary pulse-wave, 152.

Coronary veins, nourish the heart, 86.

Coronary vessels compressed in systole, 145.

CUNNINGHAM, R. H. The restoration of coordinated volitional movement after nerve "crossing," 239.

CUSHNY, A. R. See WALLACE and CUSHNY, 411.

DEGLUTITION, 435. xii.

—, studied with Rontgen rays, 435. xii.

Distemper, affected by alcohol, xv.

Depressor-nerve in guinea-pig, 393.

Development, affected by alcohol, xv.

Diabetes, 395.

Digestion by papain, 255.

Digestion, influenced by alcohol, 164.

Digestion of cane-sugar, 277.

Dynamograph, 284.

EAR, function in fishes, 128.

Electrodynamometer, 166.

Ether-anaesthesia by the rectum, viii.

FATIGUE, affected by alcohol, xv.

Fatty degeneration, metabolism in, v.

FERRIS, S. J., and G. LUSK. The gastric inversion of cane-sugar by hydrochloric acid, 277.

Fibrillary contractions of heart, 71, 99.

Friction-machine, 294.

Fungi, composition and nutritive value, 225.

GALVANOMETER, Rowland, 166.

Gastric cannula, 191.

GIES, I. See CHITTENDEN and GIES, I.

GREENE, C. W. On the relation between the external stimulus applied to a nerve and the resulting nerve impulse as measured by the action current, 164.

HALLOCK, W. (with F. S. MUCKEY). The action of the larynx in the production of voice, vi.

HARRINGTON, D. W. Contributions to the physiology of the cardiac nerves in the guinea-pig, 383.

Heart, conduction of excitation wave, 502.

—, contraction interval, 493.

—, force, 497.

—, distention influences intramural flow, 215.

—, fibrillary contractions, 71.

—, frequency, 500.

—, influenced by vagus nerve, 486.

—, intramural circulation increased by systole, 157.

—, mammalian, method of isolating, 93, 215, 511.

—, nerves in guinea-pig, 383.

—, nutrition through vessels of Thebesius and coronary veins, 86, 516.

—, oxygen at high tension replaces red corpuscles, 516.

HODGE, C. F. Influence of alcohol upon voluntary muscular power in conditions of fatigue, xv.

—, Influence of alcohol upon the young in dogs, and upon the severity of an attack of distemper, xv.

HOWELL, W. H. The influence of high arterial pressures upon the blood-flow through the brain, 57.

HYDE, IDA H. The effect of distention of the ventricle on the flow of blood through the walls of the heart, 215.

Hydrochloric acid inverts cane-sugar, 277.

ICELAND moss, 435.

Inanition, effect on nerve cells, xiv.*

Intestinal absorption, 411.

JACKSON, H. C. See CHITTENDEN, MENDEL, and JACKSON, 164.

KYNURENIC acid, excretion of, xv.

LARYNX, action in voice-production, vi.

Lateral line in fishes, function, 128.

LEE, F. S. The functions of the ear and the lateral line in fishes, 128.

Lichenin, 456.

LOEB, J. The biological problems of today: physiology, xv.

Lung, redistention after collapse, ix.

LUSK, G. See FERRIS and LUSK, 277.

— See REILLY, NOLAN, and LUSK, 395.

— On metabolism in fatty degeneration, v.

MATHEWS, A. A contribution to the chemistry of cytological staining, 445.

MCDERMOTT, H. E. See CHITTENDEN, MENDEL, and MCDERMOTT, 255.

MELIZER, S. J. A new pleural cannula in situ, xv.

— A simple method for the redistention of the collapsed lung, ix.
